BULL TIMES AND A FALLING MARKET.

Usually when two nations are at war, times are lively not only in the countries which are fighting each other, but in nearly all other countries which are engaged in manufactures and commerce. The Crimean war, between Russia on one side, Great Britain, Turkey and France on the other, sent wheat up from 45 cents to $1.45 per bushel in the western States. The Civil war caused an advance in the prices of all products and labor was in demand at remunerative wages throughout the land. The present war, however, is an exception. Though 200,000 men have volunteered taking that number of able-bodied men from farms and factories, and other callings in civil life, times are dull and money scarcer than before war was declared against Spain.

Political economists account for the unusual stagnation in business during the present war in this wise: The call for bonds has taken $200,000,000 out of circulation for the time being and there is a corresponding stringency in the money market, which will continue until the money received for the bonds is again put in circulation by the government, and then there will be no more money in circulation than there was before the bonds were issued. Then the increase in internal revenue takes more money out of the pockets of the people for the time. The demand for money is greater than 1/2 times of peace, while not a dollar is being added to the volume of money in the country. Issuing bonds and collecting revenue is an endless chain system, which does not increase the volume of money in the country.

The army and navy at Manila and in Cuba are paid in United States money, which reduces the volume at home, as it takes so much out of circulation. Our money is being substituted for Spanish money in Cuba, which will still further reduce the volume at home, and a coinage in greater than heretofore the effect is felt throughout the country. Real estate in San Francisco is lower than it has been for years and labor and its products are as cheap as in times of profound peace, though over 200,000 native men have been taken from civil life.

The necessity for increasing the volume of money by coining the silver in the Treasury and issuing from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000 of government notes, was urged in Congress by the members who are not controlled by the money trust, but their arguments were stoutly resisted by the gold men, and bonds, which draw interest, were issued in lieu of silver dollars and non-interest bearing government notes.

NOW FOR PORTO RICO.

General Miles has gone to Porto Rico with the advance guard of the American troops which are to occupy the island. He is to be followed by 80,000 or more men, who will take possession of the country and hold it for the United States. A Military Governor will be appointed to administer affairs until a permanent government is established.

The troop ships will leave without convoy as there are no Spanish war ships afloat in the waters of the West Indies. The distance from Florida to Porto Rico is about 1800 miles and it will take the transports some days to get there, but they incur no risk of being captured or molested by Spanish cruisers, as Commodore Schley and his fleet is sent to meet Cervera's fleet to meet McGlory at the bottom of the sea.

It will probably be a few weeks before American supremacy is acknowledged in Porto Rico, but that it will be without great loss of life, there is no doubt whatever. If Spain continues the war much longer there will be nothing left of it except its history and much of that is not creditable to any nation claiming to be civilized.

General Parra, the Spanish commander at Guantanamo refused to be included in the capitulation of Santiago de Cuba and according to Spanish military law a commander can surrender the troops which he personally commands, but he cannot compel other commanders to do so when they are at distant points although they may be under his authority. Consequently, it is held at Madrid the "capitulation" includes only 17,000 troops actually in Santiago.

No reliable information is received at London that the Spanish Government will sue for peace. Spain believes that a British squadron will prevent the American squadron from passing through the straits, but this is regarded as improbable.

COPIED FROM WAR ADVISER.

A special from St. Thomas says a serious riot occurred at Mayaguez, Puerto Rico, on Sunday, in which nine natives were killed by the Spaniards who claimed that the natives were American sympathizers.

The peace movement at Madrid is losing ground. The newspapers say that a coalition is being formed against the government on account of the suspension of the Constitution.

Three Spanish steamers have sailed from Cadiz fearing that the Americans under Watson will attack that place and destroy all the shipping in port. General Blanco has not resigned as has been reported. The Minister of War at Madrid says there is no news as the Americans control the wires and will not permit the transmission of official dispatches.

Cubans arriving from Siboney report that General Garcia, the Cuban General was shot. They will give no particulars and there seems to be some mystery regarding the shooting.

The movement of troops from Camp Thomas to Porto Rico will begin today. The various companies included in the first order are packing up and railroad trains are in readiness to put troops through to Newport News in a very short time.

The English Carlists are active and say they are ready for active operations and are hourly expecting momentous news. They assert that they have men and are confident of a Carlist uprising as soon as the surrender of Santiago becomes understood in Spain.

General Miles has been again delayed in sailing for Porto Rico. This time the delay was caused by the navy failing to furnish a convoy.

Blanco cables Madrid that Santiago was surrendered without his knowledge. General Toral will be court-martialed.

BREVITIES.

Miss Aida Phillips returned from a visit to San Francisco yesterday morning.

Miss Kate Mayberry left for Virginia yesterday on a visit to Comstock friends.

There is serious complaint among travellers of not being able to obtain sleeping car accommodations from this point.

Mrs. W. R. Randall of Carson is visiting her sister, Mrs. James Kerr. She will continue on to Carlin the last of the week.

Thirteen recruits from Woodland, California, passed through yesterday for Carson to join one of the Nevada companies.

It has been discovered at last what the cigarette is good for. The little paper-covered roll of weed is expected to contribute $6,000,000 a year to the war tax.

Charles H. Eaton of the Reno Mercantile Company has purchased the residence of W. J. Westerfield on South Virginia street, now occupied by M. Schelline of the Bank of Nevada.

Captain A. C. Ducat, reported to have been killed at Santiago de Cuba, is now in the hospital at Tampa, Florida. Captain Ducat was shot through the thigh and very severely wounded, but will probably recover.

The Virginia Report says that Tuesday night was the first night in the history of Virginia that a faro game did not operate somewhere within its limits. "Old Kentuck" failed to open up for business Tuesday evening.

For State Superintendent of Schools.

John Edwards Bray of this city will be a candidate for State Superintendent of Schools before the Silver Party State Convention. Mr. Bray has served in the educational system of the State for a number of years and is thoroughly conversant with the requirements of the schools in every locality. He would make an excellent Superintendent, and in saying this the Journal does not wish to say aught against the ability or claims of any of the other gentlemen suggested for this position.

RENO PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Yearly Report and Names of Pupils Promoted.

To the Board of School Trustees—GENTLEMEN: I herewith respectfully submit my report for the public schools of Reno for the school year ending June 30, 1898:

The statistical table shows the attendance, etc., for the month of June. The honor roll contains the names of all who were regularly promoted. The names of those promoted on account of length of service in a given grade have not all been included, as in several cases their promotion has to be arranged with them at the opening of the new term.

The attendance for the past year has averaged slightly in excess of that for either of the two preceding years. The enrollment for June, 1898, was 610; for June, 1897, 492; for June, 1896, 496. The census, however, shows a serious decrease in the number of school children for this district, the decrease for the last year being 93, making a difference of several hundred dollars in the amount of school funds for the coming year.

The system of semi-annual promotions introduced the past year has been approved by many thoughtful parents. It properly carried out and extended so that pupils may be grouped according to ability and capacity in each room and permitted to pass from one group to another whenever they are prepared to do so, it will prove a most important departure in the direction of more profitable school work. We now have a closer graduation of pupils than heretofore and will be enabled to equalize the attendance in the various rooms.

The classes can be so arranged for the next year that thirteen teachers can do the work done last year by fourteen teachers, without in any wise impairing the efficiency of the schools. The average attendance per room will be four or five larger than heretofore for some years, but it will be less than Boston and most of the large cities of the country.

The work in drawing for the past year has continued to improve. Since the close of the term I have examined in detail the work done by the pupils in this branch, and I am pleased to say that it shows a definite progress throughout the grades. Miss Lewers, who for the past two years and a half has had charge of drawing in the schools, has created, or cultivated, a decided taste for this subject and many of our pupils have developed no little ability in drawing. I trust that we may now be able to continue to advantage the work which she has so well initiated here.
